Death of Major Root.

News has been received in Ocala of the death of Major Edward Root, which occurred some days ago at his home at Norton, Conn. Major Root was until a few years ago a prominent and prosperous citizen of Ocala and his friends here will regret to learn of his death.

He was eighty-one years of age, was a veteran of the civil war on the Union side and is survived by several children, viz: Mrs. Clara Wendt, of Jacksonville and Messrs. Edd and Charles Root.

The Ansonia (Conn.) papers in speaking of his death says in part:

Mr. Root disposed of most of his property in Ansonia and went to Florida in 1886, engaging in the lively business in Ocala. He also bought several orange groves and real estate in Marion county, but was ruined, like so many others, by the big freeze.

In 1894 he married Miss Stelt Scott, of Ocala, she being the second wife, and after her death in 1897, returned to Connecticut, but paid another visit of considerable duration to this state to settle up his business at Ocala and visit his daughter, Mrs. Clara M. Wendt, and little granddaughter, at Jacksonville, Fla.

Mr. Root's regiment was the 12th Connecticut Volunteer Infantry, in which he enlisted August 13, 1862. He was wounded July 20, 1864, at Peach Tree Creek, Ga., where his regiment made a gallant charge. The regiment was prominent at Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, the siege of Atlanta, and other important actions of the civil war.

When he went back to Connecticut Mr. Root entered the soldier's home, but a year later left it and married again, his third wife surviving him. He died in Norton, July 28, and was buried at Ansonia with military honors.

Mr. Allred in New Home.

The editor of this paper has just received an interesting letter from Mr. Nell M. Allred, who is now at Prescott, Ariz., practicing his profession. He says that he and his wife and baby are all getting along nicely in their western home. Mr. Allred says that he has never yet made up his mind to give up Florida and Ocala as his home but that he has made up his mind to remain in Arizona until he is entirely well and then to return to Ocala and his old friends. He says he hopes to return to Ocala with in a few years, to take up the thread of his life where it was broken and to go on with the work he was compelled to lay down.

Mr. Allred says they greatly enjoy the weekly visits of the Banner and read it from the first page through Abe & Jake's "ad" on the last.

Mr. Allred's many Ocala friends will be delighted to know that he is doing so well and hope that it will be only a very short while before he will return to Florida.

Mr. Sam B. Russ has returned to Ocala from a visit to Tampa.

A Beautiful Compliment for Mrs. Marean.

We had recently an opportunity to make the acquaintance of a novelist of considerable fame, who has lived in Ocala, for many years, Mrs. Beatrice Marean, the wife of a well-known physician of that city. Mrs. Marean has written a number of novels that have had a wide sale. The first one published, "The Tragedies of Oakhurst," is local in its coloring and intensely interesting from start to finish. Mrs. Marean is a pleasant lady-like woman not yet much past forty, if one may judge by appearances; has a delightfully sozy home, and is a charming person to meet. The story we have read is of high moral tone and one which once begun one will not sleep until it is finished. The heavy villain in it so closely reproduced a well-known rich man of Ocala that his lawyer forbade Mrs. Marean to publish it. She, however, paid no heed to his threats. A number of pleasant books have been written, founded on Florida facts, but none more attractive, that we have seen, than the Tragedies of Oakhurst.—Arcadia Champion.

Has Gone to Purchase Mininery.

Miss Mary Affleck's milliner, Miss Ethel Harris, has gone to New York, Baltimore and other eastern cities to attend the fall millinery openings. She will find the latest styles while away and when she returns to Ocala will be able to give Miss Affleck's customers the benefit of the knowledge she will obtain.

Miss Harris will purchase a big line of the most stylish and up to date pattern hats and all kinds of millinery. It will be one of the hand-somest lines ever brought to Ocala. She will be away for about three weeks and will give the markets a thorough investigation. 8-12

The Post Case Will be Tried Again.

Attorneys Bisbee & Odell and Col. Otis T. Green, counsel for Mrs. Helen Willmans Post, the Seabreeze mental healer, convicted last January in the United States district court of fraudulent use of mails in carrying on the business of a mental healer, have filed another motion for a new trial.

There are several grounds on which the new trial is asked, but the most important relates to the discovery of an alleged letter written by B. L. Willis, M. D., a witness for the United States in the case against Mrs. Post, which flatly contradicts his statement made on the stand during the trial last January. The letter in question was written to Dr. John A. Van Valzah, of Daytona.

The Government Dredge on Crystal River.

The government dredge Florida is already at work, making preliminaries to the beginning of the dredge work. This vessel will be here for about six months and will put Crystal river on the map in Big Black Bold Face type before she leaves us. Captain Ble is an experienced gentleman in his line and he has spoken very encouragingly of the project.

Every factory, mill and business enterprise is moving with an air of pride and progress; the people here are all happy and contented. Labor is scarce and wages high. There are a number of nice positions open here for sober, industrious young men, and some good business openings.

Now keep cool and watch us grow.—Crystal River News.

Theodore Stensland, vice-president of the defunct Milwaukee Avenue bank, of Chicago, has announced that he will turn over to the receiver the entire estate of his father, Paul O. Stensland. Should this be done, it is believed depositors will receive almost dollar for dollar. By agreement the hearing of this case was continued until August 18.

Mr. Eugene Cox, of East Point, Ga., has now been in business in that city for three years and has been unusually successful. He has just celebrated his third anniversary by moving into his handsome new store. Gene, as he is familiarly known, is a most popular young fellow and his Ocala friends rejoice in the success that has come to him.

Mr. L. S. Black, of Crystal River, was in Ocala Wednesday.

Hon. John G. Reardon, of Ocala, is dead. He was widely known and highly esteemed in the state, and his death will be sincerely mourned by many friends. He died at Milledgeville, Ga., on Tuesday, August 6th, and was laid to rest in Ocala on Wednesday.—Leesburg Commercial.
